Since the feesal explorations were made into the extensive coal formation of Elk county, Da., the Directors of this important callead bave or-dered the read to be laid amoid these coal fields The particular region explored by Dr. Jackson is known as the Ridgway Land and Cost Company's property, some 27,000 thou-and seres of pany's property, some 27,000 thousand sees of land, all situated in the coal region. Five or six beds of coal underlie this soil, and they generally dip only from two to live degrees from the horison, and are from two to six feet in thickness.—Most of the large beds are undisturbed, and only the small ones are here and there demuded by valleys of excavation.

The deep rayines, or runs, expose some of the out crops of the larger beds on the southeast sides of the hills. On the northwest they are

The deep ravines, or runs, expose some of the out crops of the larger heds on the southeast sides of the hills. On the northwest they are still deeply covered with rocks, the sandatones and bituminous shales.

Each of these coal beds is overlaid with a stratum of 8 or 10 inches of slaty cannel coal, and they all rest on fire clays. Iron ores, namely carbonate of iron and brown harmatite, abound, the former in the fire clays and the latter in the superincumbent shales. But few fossil plants are found in these shales, and only the scales, fins, and tails of fisher in the alary cannel coal, which appears to have been a fine squeous sediment of water-lenged vegetable matter.

A bed of buff colored limestone occurs beneath the principal bed of coal, and is nine or ten feet thick. This limestone contains small fossil bivalve shelt, not yet named.

The Ridgway land thus contains coals, ire nores, limestone and sandatone, with an abundance of clay suitable for fire-proof bricks. All the facilities for the reduction of iron exists on the spot, and soon the means of transportation of the coals and metal to market will be supplied. The country is elevated shout 1500 feet above the sea, and is in lat. 4125 N. and tong 1.40 W of Washington, and is renarkably healthy.

The following analysis of the coals, iron ore and limestone have been made by Dr. Jackson, since his return to Boston. Specimen from the 6 feet hed:

BATURDAY MORNING, JULY 4, 1887.

To-day, the Anniversary of our National Inde pendence, calls forth our renewed thanks that we are still united as a people, and our earnest prayers may be continued for ages yet to come. The very thought that the question of a dissolution of a com-pact scaled by the blood of patriors is discussed, is full of pain, and as continual dropping wears away gradually to loosen bonds that no outward strain dd for a moment sever. Were we as firm in ting all pressure from within, all approach to ch an end would be forever out off, and our might confidently hope to see the realization san. DR. SANFORD'S INVIGORATOR, OR LIVER REMEDY.

AS ALL THE GOOD QUALITIES OF A PURGATIVE medicine, answering the purposes of any Cathartte without the debilitating effects experienced from purgatives. It acts slowly and gently, but surely, moving the bowels to carry off all the secreted matter, at the same time, stimulating the Liver to a proper performance of its functions.

Liver to a proper performance of its functions.

The Invigorator cures Sick Headache. Take one or tracterspoonful at each attack and it will soon disappear. For an averteaded stomich, or which food rises or sours, take the Invigorator after eating, and it will not prove disagreeable or oppressive. For Hearthure, Falpitation or Difficult Breatling, take a tea spoundul once or twice daily. For loss of Appetite. Langour or Littlessones, the medicine is invanished. It will restore the appetite, and make the food digest will. Nightmare, take a teaspoonful on reciring, and the demons of dream tand will all be fairles. After eating a hearty dinner, take a done of Invigoration and it will redieve all oppression or fulfuses. The Invigorator is a Liver remarky of unequaled virtue, acting directly on that organ, curring byspensio, Jourdice, Billious attacks, hysentery, Plies, Worms, and all Frenale obstructions, for which it has no equal.

Among the hundrests of other Liver Remarkies now offered to the public, there are note we can so fully recommend as of the great virtue of this medicine by those of the highest standing in saciety, and it is without doubt, the best prepara-tion now before the public.
